Moisture Sampling Probe (Dry/Wet-Bulb Method)

YQ-5209

Overview

The YQ-5209 dry/wet-bulb moisture sampling probe is used with a particulate/flue-gas sampler to measure flue-gas moisture in stationary-source ducts.

Source and review notes

- The source page provides no separate specifications, standards, features or accessory lists for this product; no parameters from other models have been added.
- Product performance has not been independently verified.
- English translation has not received native-speaker technical review.